Laudenslager, 18, was graduated from Grayling High School in June as an honor student. She also earned all-state honors as a skier and all-state honorable mention as the highest-scoring center ever in Viking girls basketball.

Laudenslager will wear the Miss Grayling crown for the first time here in Grayling in the July 4th parade. Throughout the summer, she will ride on the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce float representing the area in parades in northern Michigan such as the Alpenfest in Gaylord.

Extra Effort Reduces Nat. Guard Incidents

By Jon Thompson

The largest single encampment of national guards for this year were at Camp Grayling last week and many people didn't know it.

Paul Smith, a Crawford County Sheriff Dept. road officer, said it was the quietest week at Camp Grayling he could remember during the summer annual training camps. Only one complaint involving a guard was filed from June 15 to June 23.

In comparison, during the largest encampment of 1982 involving 14,600 Indiana guards, there were a total of 64 complaints. Additionally, the sheriff dept. transported 52 guards back to Camp Grayling because of undesirable conduct.

"We're making a real honest effort to control vehicles in town and keep it reasonable this year," said Brigadier General Jerome J. Mathieu, Jr. "Our command personnel are deeply concerned about the image of the guard. They've placed more emphasis on this the last two years and it looks as if it's beginning to pay off."

Mathieu said the maturity and caliber of guards has been improving steadily.

He said he was deeply excited about the general good conduct exhibited through the first week, and he hopes it will continue through this camp and the entire summer of annual training. He cautioned, however, that the last three days of camp are usually the worst. He said most of the 11,000 guards here now are mostly young men and women and that makes it tougher to control, especially after two weeks of hard work in the field.

Mathieu said they want them to have a good time here at camp and they want them to be able to go into town, but they didn't want them acting foolishly in town.

One of the ways the guard has kept a lid on drunken driving and public disorderliness this year is through lectures by command officers. Mathieu said command officers this year have emphasized the cost of $2,000 to $3,000 in civilian courts for anyone caught drunk driving.

This year, there have also been more Military Police officers in town. Mathieu said they are not there to arrest anyone but to take bumper numbers of any vehicles misused or talk to any guards causing problems.

Colonel Gwilt, Camp Grayling Commander, said the National Guard has been more restrictive on alcohol beverages this year. He said they have really pushed no alcohol in the field this year.

July 4th Fireworks Moved To Camp Grayling Beach

The annual Grayling Fourth of July fireworks show will be staged at Camp Grayling along Lake Margrethe Thursday, July 4.

The fireworks display, starting at dusk, will again be sponsored by the Grayling Youth Booster Club.

In previous years, the fireworks show was held at the Grayling City Park and near the county courthouse. This year, for safety reasons and because of increased liability costs, the city and county sites were not available. Camp Grayling was the only place that would accept the fireworks show.

The fireworks will be shot from the beach area along Camp Grayling by pyro-technicians from the Vitale Fireworks Company. The beach area will be roped off and Lake Road going through the camp will be blocked off.

Motorists will be routed along Howe Rd. through the Camp. Parking will be available along Howe Rd. and the parade field. Areas to sit and view the fireworks will be available at the parade field and Wilson Hill.

On the lake side, an area of at least 400 feet from the Camp Grayling beach will be roped off for safety reasons. The Crawford County Sheriff Dept. Marine patrol and volunteers will patrol the lake to keep boats a safe distance from the fireworks area.

There is no cost to view the fireworks from Camp Grayling. Grayling Youth

Booster Club members will be accepting donations to help pay for the fireworks, which cost more than $5,000.

Booster Club President Gerry St. Germain said although the fireworks had to be moved this year, the Booster Club is still sponsoring the show for the young people and as a community project to draw people to our area.

The Booster Club is also sponsoring the annual July 4th parade which starts at noon Thursday, July 4th.

The parade will start at the corner of Lake and Maple, travel down Maple to Michigan Avenue, and continue down Michigan Avenue to the courthouse. There will be a bike decorating contest for the parade, Camp AuSable and Special Olympics will be among the groups represented in the parade, and the new Miss Grayling will be on hand.

After the parade, the annual Grease Pole competition begins at 1 p.m. in the city park with $75 in prizes to be given away to winners. The Tug-of-War across the river will take place at 2 p.m., the Kids (five years and younger) Sand Box filled with coins will start at 3 p.m., and the Free Watermelon will be passed out at 4 p.m.

The Booster Club will operate a food stand in the park from 10 a.m. until early evening.

Terry Wright Returns Home To Lead Grayling Chamber

Terry Wright, a former Grayling resident, has returned home to lead the Grayling Chamber of Commerce as executive director.

Wright took over leadership of the Chamber Monday, June 24, replacing Walt Nowak, who had stepped in to help the Chamber on a part-time basis as executive director.

"It's nice to come back to your hometown," Wright said, "and I'm looking forward to working as Chamber director. I enjoy working with people and the job will be interesting because it has different duties every day."

Wright said he hasn't had time yet to sit down and set specific goals for himself in the director position, but said an obvious goal for the executive director will be to increase membership in the Chamber. He also hopes to lead Chamber projects that will help the entire community prosper.

Wright, 37, is the son of Russ and Roberta Wright, of Grayling. He was graduated from Grayling High School in 1966 and attended Northwestern College in Traverse City before serving in the Army for four years beginning in 1968. In the Army service, his duties included one year of service in Vietnam, two years in Germany, and work in security involving surveillance of high frequency radio signals.

In 1972, he returned to Grayling and worked in the Crawford County Sheriff Dept. marine division. He received an associate degree from Northwestern and then studied computer programming at Grand Valley State College.

Wright became a computer programmer in Grand Rapids and then went into data processing for a bank in Iowa. He was working for a bank in Phoenix, Arizona, when he decided to apply for the executive director position in his hometown.

"I'm a civic-minded person," Wright says about his move from Phoenix to Grayling. "But they wouldn't let me be Chamber of Commerce director to Phoenix," he joked.

A luncheon to greet Wright and say farewell to Nowak will be held Friday, June 28, at noon at the Grayling Holiday Inn.

From Our Corner...

Welcome back home Terry...Terry Wright, the new Executive Manager of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce took over the reins this week...Terry grew up in Grayling, attending the Grayling school system and is an alumnus of GHS...we knew Terry back then as our daughter Toni and son Dane were in the same years in school as Terry and his brother Tom...Terry's folks Russ and Roberta, both retired, Russ from the DNR and Roberta from Social Services still make their home here...

To us it is refreshing to see some of our younger generation returning home...that gives new input to our society that is badly needed for future growth...

Terry will be coming back when there is quite a youth movement among our local businesses...to name a few, Curt Jansen at Jansen's Sales, Mike and P.J. at Mac's Drugs, Johnnie Alef at the Grayling State Bank who happens to be the C of C president this year, Herb Olson at Farm Bureau Insurance, Dave Jansen at Sorenson Insurance and Jon Thompson of the Avalanche...all of whom are joined by many younger persons in various jobs who are also the backbone of the future...

Terry, we wish you well, and if there is anything that the Avalanche can help you with, do not hesitate to call...we have been around a few years...

We had two visitors this past week from out west...first, on Thursday noon we received a call from a smart aleck who called for Tubby...it turned out it was a Gaylord buddy who at the time was tubby from our school days, Jack Culliton (there are a few around here who would remember Jack), anyway, we spent a couple of hours talking about yesteryear...Jack lives in Colorado Springs with his wife Scotty and is equipment manager of the Air Force Academy football and basketball teams...except for a few years out in civilian life Jack has been in the Air Force since 1939 following his graduation from Gaylord High School...during those years, he was in Hawaii during the bombing of Pearl Harbor...was a gunner in a bomber that was shot down over Germany and escaped through Belgium, Sweden and England back to the United States to be among a select few to wear the Silver Boot which signifies walking out of Germany...he coached an Air Force girl's basketball team that won 32 straight games, was anchor rider on a bobsled team that competed in the Olympics...his longevity with the Air Force is matched by his wife who has been connected with the military for 42 years...it was refreshing bringing back old memories with Jack...

Our second visitor was Bob Barnard of Liberal, Kansas who stopped by just for a few seconds Friday to make acquaintance...Bob had called me a couple times last year from Kansas because of an error in a want ad of his and the second time to ask how the people here could afford to build a brand new school because he had left here because he couldn't find any work...we had never met but, it was interesting to find out that Bob had driven 1400 miles in a 1951 Chevy pickup...now I didn't know where Liberal was until I found it on the map, it is about 52 miles from the Colorado line and a skip and a jump into the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle...it is always nice to meet someone who has given you heck over the telephone, or through an unsigned letter...

An idle thought...am I ever glad that our bride played golf in the Friday ABWA outing...seeing as it rained both Saturday and Sunday morning to keep her off the links, we can hardly imagine what it would have been like around the house over the weekend...

We have to mention this...I received a call from T.J. Saturday morning, she's number one in our granddaughter clan...T.J. informed us that she had just completed a basketball summer camp and received a plaque for being the most improved player...that's better than the ol' fella ever did...T.J. goes into the sixth grade next year...

With that we will bid T.J., Stefany and Amber goodnight and to all of our readers, have a nice weekend...and if you are anything like us, better start practicing on how to Buckle Up, it's the law July One...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

THE SANCTUARY MOVEMENT

The Sanctuary Movement is a cooperative effort of some 180 or so mainline churches to assist illegal alien refugees from Central America to resettle in the United States in violation of U.S. immigration laws. While the Sanctuary Movement sounds Christian, there are sound reasons to question the underlying political motives and methods of this group.

First, it is operating against immigration laws of our country. While they claim these laws are unjust and selfish, the truth is against them. These U.S. laws have permitted more refugees to resettle in our country than in all other Western countries combined. All of us remember the boat loads of Cuban refugees received just a few years ago. We are still sorting out the criminals and undesirables sent here by Castro.

Second, it is working in support of Communist policies in Central America. The Coalition for Civil Obedience (CCO), a citizens group formed to oppose the Sanctuary Movement, believes this group is a "pawn of left-wing organizations" to undermine U.S. opposition to Marxist-Leninist movements in Central America. A Guatemalan army deserter said, "Sanctuary is a symbol of solidarity with us (in the struggle against) U.S. and Israeli imperialism." Coordinator Phillip Wheaton, of the Washington, D.C., Sanctuary Group, said at an Inter-American Symposium of the Sanctuary Movement, "This empire is sucking the world dry of its wealth and resources. (The Sanctuary Movement) must seek change in the fundamental economic priorities of the American system."

Third, the Sanctuary Movement is working to undermine U.S. foreign policy in Central America. A position paper from Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America, the chief Sanctuary coordinating organization, stated, "Some churches have done almost nothing to oppose U.S. military aid to Central America. We question whether this is adequate... What is the value of a Sanctuary church that continues its support (by silence, by vote or whatever) for U.S. policies in Central America?" The Sanctuary Movement blames American foreign policy of opposing Communist aggression in Central America for the refugee problem.

Fourth, the Sanctuary Movement has set the organizational structure for the undermining of the future economic and military security of our nation. The Council for Inter-American Security (CIS) reported that historically 10-20 percent of a population usually flees a Communist revolution. This means 10 to 20 million Central American and Mexican refugees could seek refuge if the United States does not contain the Sandinistas and the Communist revolution they support. This will cost all Americans an estimated $12 to $25 billion a year. The logic is clear. Will we support freedom and fight Communism in Central America now, or will we await the domino effect of Communist Revolution later. The Communists and liberal churchmen know what they are doing. It is of extreme importance to the national security of our grandchildren that ordinary people like you and I know about it and do something.

Develop Management Plan For Part of AuSable River

U.S. Forest Service officials are beginning to develop a management plan for 23 miles of the AuSable River in the Huron National Forest.

In October, President Reagan signed legislation to protect the AuSable under the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act. It met requirements that the river be free-flowing and possess outstanding scenic, recreational, geologic, historic, and cultural features. In addition, this section of the AuSable from Mio Dam to the upper end of Alcona Pond has a largely undeveloped shoreline with some road access.

As a way of gathering input for the management plan, an open house is scheduled for Saturday, July 27, from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. at the McKinley Civic Association Hall in McKinley. Forest Service officials are urging anyone who has an interest in the AuSable River to attend or send written comments. People have voiced concerns on the lack or overload of regulations, litter, erosion problems, poor fishing access, and more.

Once finalized, the management plan will protect those features of the AuSable that made it unique enough to be designated as a National Scenic River.

The public may send their written comments on how this segment of the AuSable River should be managed to: Forest Supervisor, Huron-Manistee National Forests, 421 S. Mitchell Street, Cadillac, MI 49601.

Almanack

Who Pays For The Paper?

by Richard Millman

PERMIT a commercial message about newspapers, to begin this week's Almanack. Many of our readers think that the 25 cents per issue, or their annual or weekly or monthly subscription fee, is what pays for the newspaper. That's only partly true.

Some of our readers think that newspapers advertising gets in the way of their enjoyment of reading all the news and features. We hope that's not true at all.

The facts are that most people enjoy reading the ads as well as the news. And the further facts are that it is advertising — not circulation revenue — which pays for the paper.

The American Association of Advertising Agencies recently put together a series of ads for a campaign to improve the public's image about advertising. One ad in particular we thought we'd pass along because it explains the role of advertising in sustaining the newspaper.

UNDER THE BOLD heading: "This ad has already saved you money," the text explains:

"If you paid for this newspaper, we have something in common. We paid for it, too."

"In fact, every advertiser you see in these pages paid handsomely for the privilege of being here. And what we paid went toward the cost of producing the newspaper. Which made it a lot cheaper for you to buy."

"How much cheaper? Well, if you took all the advertising away, the average newspaper would cost you about five times as much. And offer you about half as much."

FOR A QUARTER, or whatever the paper costs, the reader gets a great deal when he/she buys a newspaper.

The quarter doesn't even pay for the cost of the paper and the ink, in most cases, let alone pay for the reporters and the pictures and all the other costs involved in putting a newspaper in your hand.

It's the advertiser who makes the newspaper possible. Readers sometimes don't realize that, so we're happy to pass on the word from the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

HERE IN MICHIGAN, Wayne County's Bill Lucas got all the headlines with his long march to changing parties from Democrat to Republican. But Lucas is not alone as a party switcher.

Out in Massachusetts, former governor Edward King has followed the same route. King recently ended his long affiliation with the Democratic Party and has registered as a Republican, in a likely prelude to taking another crack at being elected governor — this time from the other side of the political fence.

King defeated Governor Michael Dukakis, a Democrat, in the 1978 Democratic primary, then lost to Dukakis in a primary rematch in 1982. Now it appears he will take on Dukakis again in 1986, as a Republican.

KING SAID he enjoyed being governor, which is as good a reason as any to run again. He said he switched because he felt the Democrats have drifted away from the political mainstream, and the Democratic Party "has ceased to be the party of the sensible center and has become a party dominated by professional liberals."

Have you noticed that when most of these big name party switchers take the jump, they usually end up as candidates for something or other — such as Michigan's Lucas, and Massachusetts' King, and Texas' Sen. Phil Gramm.

It makes you wonder about the depth of their political convictions, when measured against their political opportunism.

Of course, people who switch parties quietly and don't run for public office we never hear about. There must be a flock of those around, too.

SOME COLUMN CLOSERS:

— A recent Gallup survey indicated that in fancy restaurants, seafood entrees are ordered by more customers than beef entrees — 38 percent for fish, 31 percent for beef. Gallup also found that steak remains the most popular single entree.

— Words on a T-shirt seen in Boston (as reported in the Wall Street Journal): "This shirt cost my family $50,716...and I'm worth every penny. Harvard '85."

— Experience is valuable in most human endeavors (reports Rotarian Magazine), but the problem of getting a cat down from a tree is new every time it arises.

Revised Senate Forecast Cites Recession Risk in 1987

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Dir., MPA

A recently revised economic forecast released by the Senate Fiscal Agency says a recession by 1987 is growing more likely which, combined with planned reductions in the payments to the state's so-called rainy day fund and proposed tax cuts, could complicate the writing of an already tight 1986-87 budget.

"We're thinking that (a recession in 1986-87) is a real possibility. It's coming to a point where the downside risks are greater than a few months ago, primarily because of the overvalued dollar," said fiscal agency chief economist Gary Olson.

A compromise prison construction plan reduces the payment to the state's Budget Stabilization Fund (BSF) by $60 million in 1985-86 and $30 million in 1986-87. The income tax rate will return to 4.6 percent sometime in 1986 instead of October, 1987, as under current state law.

Governor James Blanchard, who would replace lost revenue, proposed a July 1 date for the rollback, the Senate approved a January 1 date with no revenue augmentation, the House Taxation Committee has voted for a May, 1986 date.

The fiscal agency revision said the economy will be slowing more in 1985-86 than it had forecast in March, but expects no complications from the tax for budget stabilization fund decisions.

Because of the slower economy, the agency projects a fund payment of $123.8 million, which is about half of the $233 million estimated earlier, and would be cut another $60 million under the prison compromise.

The lower payment, however, also helps boost the 1985-86 surplus to $406.8 million, assuming the Governor's budget targets.

Olson said the new numbers cause him to be concerned about the fund, which he said should be 7-10 percent of the general fund/school aid fund spending to adequately handle a recession.

The planned actions will leave the fund in 1985-86 with a balance of $405.1 million, or about 5.1 percent.

"I don't want to throw cold water on the prison compromise, but I've always thought the larger the balance in the BSF, the better," he said.

Olson said the tax cut proposals will have already left lawmakers with little additional revenue for a new budget.

The Department of Management and Budget has projected that a 5 percent growth in the general fund budget would be possible with a faster tax rollback, but Olson said he thinks even that is optimistic.

Reduced estimates for 1985-86 by the fiscal agency have narrowed its differences with the department, although it remains more optimistic on estimated revenues.

The revised revenue estimate is higher than its last forecast by $27.8 million in the current year and $26.5 million for 1985-86, despite lower estimated collections in most revenue sources as the economy slows.

The increase is due to higher payments in income tax returns as well as lower refund levels.

KELLEY SEEKS CLEANUP OF MONROE HAZARDOUS WASTE SITE

A lawsuit filed by Attorney General Frank Kelley is seeking a court order to cleanup the Steven's Landfill in Monroe County and for owners of the hazardous waste site to reimburse the state for the cleanup operation.

The Department of Natural Resources ranks the 33-acre site as among the worst three in the state.

The suit asks the Monroe County Circuit Court to implement a DNR cleanup plan, which involves removal of about 400 toxic waste barrels and surface oils to a licensed landfill and continued testing to determine the effect of the contaminants on the land; order the company to reimburse the state for those costs and the lawsuit; and issue an injunction to permit DNR access to the site.

Prom Held For LTC Residents at Mercy Hospital

Grayling Mercy Hospital Long Term Care Unit - Many residents of Long Term Care attended a small rural school in the days before consolidated 12 grade districts.

High school graduation and the senior prom came later, for their children and grandchildren.

But the residents experienced the excitement of a big dance when the activity department and staff pitched in to help with a "Senior Prom" at the facility during National Nursing Home Week, May 12-18. About two dozen residents, in prom clothes brought in by employees of the hospital and families of the residents, listened to music provided by WQON.

Melanie Green, activity director, said "We're always looking for new and exciting activities to incorporate in our program, but this was our first legitimate 'senior prom'."

The prom clothes, good music, make-up, wine, cheese, family and friends, all added up to a magical night - one that will long be remembered by residents as well as staff.

Getting dressed up is good therapy for anyone. The residents were very excited as they were made up with cosmetics and given corsages, which were donated by the Mercy Hospital Auxiliary.

This year's king, John Dare, and queen, Exilda Doast, were crowned by Resident Council President, Evelyn Jameson. We couldn't have done it without all of the community and staff support. Adam's Photography came to the facility and photographed family and residents. Volunteers arrived early to make up the residents. Connie Cosgrove, hairdresser, made a special trip to Long Term Care and styled the ladies hair especially for the occasion. WQON taped music from the 30's and 40's and played it for our listening enjoyment during the prom. Staff did a wonderful job of getting residents fed and dressed for the event.

The Dietary Department of the hospital supplied wine, cheese, fruit and vegetables for the event. A great time was had by all!

Enjoy Your Woodlot

Trees in themselves are beautiful, and a woodlot is full of other things of beauty such as wildflowers, ferns and wildlife. Trails meandering through a woodlot facilitate leisurely strolling and allow for viewing the nuances of a woodlot. Following a trail, the hikers attention can be directed towards the woodlot rather than orienteering.

Trails should be well-planted to lead the hiker through a variety of cover types. A curving trail is pleasing to the eye. Trails should be 2-3' wide and the trail surface can be covered with sawdust or woodchips to prevent erosion. Overhanging branches should be periodically pruned and poisonous plants should be kept away from the trail. Trail markers can be erected to interpret the area. Markers can identify trees, wildflowers, evidence of fire or logging, etc.

The scenery around a trail changes with each season. Woodland trails can be used for cross-country skiing and snowshoeing in the winter, morel picking and wildflower viewing in the spring, enjoying the cool shade in the summer, and hunting and photographing the changing colors in the fall.

Contact the Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District for trail planning assistance at 409 Lake St. in Roscommon, Phone 275-5231. The District Forester is Sherry Castle.

Editor's Mailbox

June 17, 1985

Crawford Co. Avalanche
100 1/2 Michigan
Grayling, Mi. 49738

Dear Editor:

I would like to answer the letter that appeared in the Avalanche on June 13, 1985, by Mr. Gates. I do not agree with Mr. Gates or Mr. Wolff on their views of no kill or catch and release areas on the AuSable River or any other river, for that matter.

It started out that we had stretches of the river where you could only fish with flies. Flies are fine with me, I catch more fish on flies. But that's my choice and I would like to keep that freedom to choose. What about a family up here on vacation with some young children who are camping on the river? God forbid that they should dump a worm into the holy waters reserved solely for Trout Unlimited members who are heavily burdened with Orvis Fly Fishing equipment and a book of funny sounding Latin names for insects that's tucked away neatly in the vest pocket of their Eddie Bauer Fishing Vest.

I myself fish for two reasons. One is the relaxation of being outside and the sport of fishing. The second is to catch, kill, and eat fish. I love trout. Sauteed in butter, broiled, baked with fried potatoes stream side or in my kitchen it doesn't matter. They're excellent table fare.

I don't buy that "hatchery fish are rarely if ever as strong and as capable of survival as wild fish," either. A recent publication put out by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs that listed Michigan's fish hatcheries as tourist attractions said Michigan fish hatcheries are capable of producing over ten million trout and salmon annually. Sounds like enough to me if everybody kept their limit.

I have lived on the AuSable River in the Grayling area for over 12 years now below Wakeley Bridge Road. As anyone who fishes the AuSable River knows, Wakeley Bridge is the cut-off for flies only area of the mainstem of the AuSable River. Below Wakeley Bridge is open waters and a fisherman may use any legal method for taking fish; it's not limited to flies only. I've had a lot of people tell me that this area seems to continually produce larger and more fish than the flies only water and that the flies only water is a good place to spend the afternoon where you can catch a lot of fish, however, nothing compares in size to the fish taken in non-regulated waters. This might or might not be true; I don't know. I have never fished the quality waters on the mainstem. However, I have fished the Mason tract and found it to be literally infested with small brook trout of three to six inches.

I guess what this is coming down to, it's my opinion and my opinion only, though, I represent no group, that we seem to be regulated in all factions of life and I think the last thing we need is for one group of "sportsmen" pushing for legislation to stop the taking of fish from the AuSable River or any other river.

Some time ago I read something, I don't remember exactly where, that said that man was supposed to go forth and have dominance over the animals of the land and the fishes of the sea. I guess I missed the part about catch and release and will have to re-read that if I can locate it to make sure that I am not violating any law higher than the State of Michigan's.

Sincerely,
Douglas M. Wallman

Herbal Corner

For the last couple of years we have found something fascinating about egg shells and potato peelings. Whenever we planted potato peelings with egg shells, we always had potatoes grow in the spot they were planted. It may be only three to six potatoes, but they were freebies and just as tasty.

I do know that when buried with other scraps egg shells will eventually decompose into nitrogen. Depending on the size when buried, egg shells will take almost a year to decompose. They also put calcium back into the soil - it takes calcium to make the egg shell. Maybe it is the combination of these two elements. In any case, keep your egg shells in the morning. In the evening bury them with your potato peelings. Even buried now I think you would have potatoes in the fall.

Remember my telling you about using buckets for your tomatoes? My tomatoes are coming out of the bucket and are loaded with blossoms. How are yours doing?

A 1902 cookery magazine titled "Medicine In Food" suggested you use Mint in with your peas. Mint not only flavored the peas but also aided in ridding of flatulence. I would think that this would also apply to beans as well. One sprig should do it.

The book is right about the Mint. Whenever you feel full of gas a good cup of hot Mint tea will correct your digestion. Peppermint is also good for the digestion.

If you have any questions, please call 517-348-8727 or contact me at Cerelli's Herb Farm, one mile north of Frederic on Old 27.

Herbally yours,
E. Diona Cerelli, C.H.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

The Michigan Marine Safety Program, administered by the Law Enforcement Division of the Dept. of Natural Resources is a wide ranging, multifaceted operation. Dealing with such things as Special Event Permits, Buoy Permits, Local Watercraft Control, Enforcement and Safety Training, to name a few, the Marine Safety Section touches all those who use Michigan's waters.

The Marine Safety Training classes, put on by Marine Deputies, Conservation Officers and volunteer instructors statewide is credited with saving hundreds of lives over the years. Annually 20 to 25 thousand young people receive the training. In 1984, no more than 40 people lost their lives in boating related accidents, a reduction of nearly 30%. Total water related fatalities are put at 155, down from 178 in 1983.

Compare this figure with 1975 when 295 people lost their lives in water and boating accidents. Something has reduced the fatality rate over 40% in those ten years. It wasn't just a lucky year, it wasn't a fluke, there has been a steady decrease over that period. This decrease is even more significant when you consider that the number of boat registrations increased 40% in that period of time.

Funding for the Marine Safety Program comes from two main sources. The federal government and boat registrations. Much of the money from the feds is being cut as part of deficit reduction efforts. In addition, a large number of boat owners are not registering their watercraft. Together this has resulted in a crunch which recently threatened to end Marine Safety Aid to counties, which would have meant an end to Marine Patrol, safety inspections, safety classes, etc. Fortunately, this crisis was resolved for the time being.

Construction and maintenance of access sites and boat ramps is also funded by registration. Loss of revenue would also adversely affect these functions.

Gaylord Citizens go to Court To Stop Chemical Plant

The Headwaters Environmental Group has filed a civil action in 46th Circuit Court to stop the construction of a chemical plant that would manufacture formaldehyde.

The motion put Borden on notice that if it proceeds with building the chemical plant, it does so at its own peril, according to Headwaters Attorney Karen Jackson. A hearing before Circuit Court Judge William A. Porter is set for June 25.

The newly organized citizens group claimed in the motion for a temporary restraining order and preliminary injunction that Borden is being allowed to proceed in violation of the Otsego County Zoning Ordinance and the Michigan Environmental Protection Act.

Borden Chemical, a division of a multi-national corporation which operates in some 130 countries, plans to build a chemical plant in Bagley Township just north of Otsego Lake. Borden officials acknowledge that the plant will release approximately one pound of formaldehyde into the air every hour around the clock. Formaldehyde is a carcinogen.

This one plant will use up approximately 40 percent of the federally allowable air pollution in the Gaylord area. The plant also intends to discharge 15,000 gallons of waste water every day. Three toxic substances — formaldehyde, phenol and organic chemicals — will be present in the waste water at unacceptably high levels, according to the Dept. of Natural Resources.

Citizens concerned about this development have organized a non-profit corporation called Headwaters Environmental Group and hired a lawyer to stop plans for this chemical plant until its full impact on this area can be assessed. Twenty doctors and administrators from Otsego Memorial Hospital have endorsed the efforts of the organization with a full page advertisement in the local newspaper in Otsego County.

Attorney Jackson of the Lowell Blumberg law firm in Gaylord filed the motion Friday. The motion points out that Bagley Township and Otsego County Planning Commissions both voted to allow Borden to operate in a Business-Light Manufacturing Zone under "Special Use" provisions of the county ordinance. Those provisions require impact statements about water quality, soils, wildlife habitat, air pollution, and water pollution. None of those statements was issued or examined prior to granting a building permit to Borden, according to Headwaters.

In addition, the zoning decisions failed to conform to several provisions of the Michigan Enabling Act regarding zoning procedures, the Headwaters motion claims.

In a second count, the motion points out that public officials and building applicants have duties under Michigan's Environmental Protection Act to prevent or minimize environmental degradation. The motion claims that the defendants failed in those duties because the evidence shows the proposed chemical plant will pollute the air and water of the community in northern Michigan known as the Alpine Village because of its location at the headwaters of five river systems, the highest elevation in lower Michigan.

The motion names Borden, Otsego County Zoning Administrator Art Davis, Otsego County and Bagley Township, the county and township Planning Commissions and the City of Gaylord as defendants. Plaintiffs are Headwaters Environmental Group and Thomas and Charlene Eash, homeowners who live less than a mile from the proposed plant.

The motion is supported by

HELP NEEDED

As some of you may know, a residential care facility for pregnant adolescents has been established in Crawford County to serve the (42) forty-two northern counties of our state. This home, called Kenquest House (searching for knowledge) is being funded through the Michigan Department of Social Services. However, there are several things which these funds will not cover. We are hoping that through this request to our community and surrounding area we might be able to find donations of the following items which we are in need of:

Washing Machine
 Five Baby Cribs
 Four Small Dressers
 Towels and Washcloths
 Lamps
 Bedspreads

Dryer
 Linens for Baby Cribs
 Four Twin Beds
 Vacuum Cleaner
 End Tables
 Small Kitchen Appliances
 (Coffee Pot, Toaster, Mixer, etc.)

Baby Supplies (High Chair, Walkers, Swings, Baby Mobiles, Toy Boxes, Dressing Tables, etc.)

Any donations are tax deductible and a receipt will be given to anyone who wishes to have one. Please contact Kenquest House (348-5922) anytime. If no answer call Judy Woodland at Saint Francis Episcopal Church (348-5850) who has helped us in coordinating this effort.

We hope you will give some effort to this. Many of us have great concern about the issue of abortion and teenage pregnancy and here is a positive approach to both of these concerns.

If you wish more information about Kenquest House please feel free to call us.

Consortium Seeks Designation

After nearly three years of attempting to answer the needs of many private businesses and economic development groups, the Northeast Michigan Consortium is currently in the process of finalizing its application with the Michigan Dept. of Commerce to be designated as a Community Growth Alliance. The Consortium is an employee training and development agency serving the counties of Alcona, Alpena, Cheboygan, Crawford, Montmorency, Oscoda, Otsego, and Presque Isle.

Designation and an estimated $200,000 in funding would be earmarked for private sector and related services, substantially expanding the agency's current job training and economic development capabilities.

A Community Growth Alliance as defined by the Dept. of Commerce is made up of three components. One function would be to provide for area development activities, as an example promotion, marketing, business retention, and data resource bases, including initiation of an automated building/sites inventory and specialized business survey work in selected locations. In conjunction with this component, a unique part of the Consortium's application would establish a close working relationship with the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments in Gaylord as a satellite area development office to specifically address the local development needs in Cheboygan, Crawford and Otsego Counties. A second component is the provision of a variety of small business assistance services, such as business plan development, financial packaging and other customized training based upon an ongoing needs assessment in the business community. Both Kirtland and Alpena Community Colleges have been supportive of this task, and would act along with consultants to provide business-related seminars and one-on-one technical assistance to help businesses in problem-solving. The final segment of the Alliance format would continue the ongoing efforts of Consortium staff in enabling area businesses and industries in the eight counties to bid on and secure government contracts. Initiated by the Consortium over two years ago with financial assistance from its Private Industry Council and Administrative Board, this program has assisted local businesses in netting over $18,000,000 in Department of Defense and other government contracts.

An additional outcome of the designation will be to establish valuable linkages with key Department of Commerce staff who are involved in facilitation of state-level development and marketing efforts.

While involved in provision of some services, Consortium staff will also act as a liaison with local businesses and related groups to determine business needs, then coordinate with other agencies, colleges, and individual consultants to provide help as needed. According to Kurt Ries, Consortium Director, it is anticipated that the Consortium will establish only a minimal regional framework for Growth Alliance activities, and that his staff's emphasis will be concentrated at the county or community level. Special care will be taken to supplement, not supplant or duplicate already-existing services of other organizations or individuals. Ries indicated that reaching this stage in the application process culminates nearly three years of work by the Consortium, Kirtland Community College, political leaders and others to build a mechanism to meet the needs of businesses and representative groups in Northeast Michigan.

In the process, a tentative Community Growth Alliance Board of Directors has been formed, including representatives of private business, industry, financial institutions, colleges, units of government and other agencies, and will act as a steering committee for use of funds. It is hoped that final details on the application can be resolved in July of this year, with designation and funding to follow.

Par For The Course

In regular Wednesday play for the morning league, 32 women were out for golf or lunch. The weather cooperated a little better than last week. Flight A winners were Mary Jane Knibbs and Carol Thompson with a 48, Mary Jane and Fay Boyee, low net of 35, and Helen Corbett with 11 putts. Mary Jane also took the odd holes prize with a 25. In B, Rose Crawford won low of 49 and odd holes with 27 while Doris Birtcher took net of 32 and Jeanne Thompson and Marti Nowak tied with 15 putts each. In C, Elsie Jansen had low of 60, net of 40, as well as odd holes with 34, while Jean Raab dropped in 14 putts. Dorothy Kaseman chipped in on No. 7.

President Barb Nielson presided at the short business meeting and announced that a sum of money is being donated to the Cancer Society in memory of Phyllis Stewart.

Next Wednesday, June 26, is guest day.

The course is in good condition under the management of the new greenskeeper, Bob Grimm and his helpers, Keith Henderson and Joe LaGrow. Helping Gordon Cheyne in the clubhouse this year are Sherrie Nelson and Vivian Balnes, while Bill French divides his time between the clubhouse and serving as starter at busy times.

Jack and Cathy Jones and two children of East Lansing visited his father, Evert Jones, last week.

Carrie Trudgeon is visiting her sister, Mrs. Janice Clark in East Lansing, while Tommy Clark is on duty with the National Guard.

Mrs. Jeannette Kitchen spent a week in Dallas, Texas, where she went to attend the wedding of her son, Michael Nelson to Alice Coffman on June 15, 1985, held at the United Methodist Church in Grand Prairie. She was accompanied to Dallas by another son and family, Mark and Cheryl Nelson, Eric and Elizabeth, of Birch Run. A nephew and his wife, the Craig Verlindes of Lawton, Oklahoma, were also in attendance. Bob Annis of Grayling served as best man and Alice's uncle, John Coffman, of Virginia, gave the bride away since her parents are deceased. Michael is also the son of the late Richard Nelson.

David and Debbie McGuire of St. Johns left their children Amy and Zachary with the Charles Ficks for the weekend while they vacationed for their anniversary in Petoskey.

The Importance of Volunteers

By Nancy K. Holcomb

Volunteers and the services they provide, are one of the most important and essential parts of the "care" provided at the Grayling Health Care Center.

Volunteers give of more than just their time, they freely share their talents as well as their experience with others, leaving a bit of themselves with each resident they meet.

Some volunteers may play the piano, mend clothes or read to the residents. Other volunteers may write letters, fill ice pitchers, arrange flowers or run the facility's library. Still others may visit with residents, keep a shopping cart or do office work. But whatever a volunteer chooses to do, whether to offer a kind word or a helping hand, they are adding that "personal touch" to the lives of our residents.

Volunteers come in all ages and styles whether a "Songbird," "Milltown Musicmaker" or "Dance Club" member.

Volunteers can be men or women, high school boys or girls, with five hours a week to share with others or one hour a week to share. Volunteering does not have to take a lot of time and yet is worth so much!

Each individual, whether a resident or volunteer, is special and unique with their own individual needs, interests and capabilities as is the relationship which grows between residents and volunteers, special and unique.

Volunteers are truly dedicated individuals who see a need and meet it by providing many invaluable services—bridging the gap between the Grayling Health Care Center resident and our community.

For information about becoming a Grayling Health Care Center volunteer, contact Nancy Holcomb, Activities Director, at (517) 348-2801.

Men of the Moose

Our Swiss Steak Dinner was a great success. We treated the new officers of the Women of the Moose to dinner.

We still need donations for our Fleat Market as well as volunteers to help work throughout the two days. Anyone wishing to donate, just bring your items down to the lodge and drop them off. Anyone wishing to volunteer can contact Jeanne Pearce or Dan Mathey.

We will be having a Pig Roast and Beer Tent on July 6 from 12 noon to 2:00 a.m. We are asking for donations of a dish to pass as well as volunteers for cooking, bartending, and clean-up. So come down and sign up. If everyone helps a little, it will make it easier on all of us and make this event a great success.

The governor, Dan Mathey, has called a special meeting to be held on June 27 at 7:00 p.m. It will be open to both men & women. We hope you all will try to be there.

OES To Entertain Masons

Grayling Chapter #83 Order of the Eastern Star will entertain all Mason's and their wives to dinner on Saturday, June 29, 1985 at 6:00 p.m.

OES members are asked to bring a dish to pass. Slides of Alaska will conclude the evening.

Substance Abuse Meeting July 1st

Yearbook Dedicated to Howard Taylor

With the close of the school year came the announcement of the recipient of the 1985 yearbook dedication. The Saga staff chose to bestow the honor upon their friend and teacher, Howard Taylor.

Mr. Taylor is considered to be a fun person, so the yearbook staff had some fun at his expense. With the cooperation of his wife, D.J. Taylor, and Mr. Fraser, of the Holiday Inn, Howard was tricked into attending an early morning breakfast on May 31st at the local Holiday Inn.

The yearbook staff, along with members of the Singing Vikings and school administrators, were on hand to greet Howard and to tell him that his personal dedication to education and the arts has not passed unnoticed. Howard's creative imagination and resourcefulness have made Grayling a better place to live.

The 1985 G.H.S. yearbook is nearing completion, with

AuSable Valley Youth Service

Strolling Around Town

By Fay

If one arrives here via the south business loop, the first major activity is the nearly completed Wurmsmith Federal Credit Union building between K mart and the Arrowhead. If you haven't visited in Grayling for many years, it's difficult to imagine what the south end of the city looks like now!

The Grayling Golf Club has a new sign and flowers have also appeared at South-end Total, Adkison's Mobil and Melroy's Standard stations. The City Office garden has been planted with petunias and the city park seems to be having lots of people visiting and lunching, children playing, and everyone enjoying the river.

The Mercantile Mall has one store open, Annie B's, a women's apparel shop, a branch from Gaylord, and more are expected. The depot painting is progressing. Whoever is responsible for the ground being mowed and cleaned up, thank you. It's been a great improvement. Up Maple Street way, the Sam Moss house has a large display of Sweet William, which I think of as a very pretty old-fashioned flower. Across the street, the Earl Whaleys have flowers and lots of activity on their house, new windows and siding. There are lots of well-kept yards in that area and in the next block, on Michigan Ave. activity, as the Peter Ingvarssons move into their new home, the one I always refer to as the Clip-pert house.

Chamber Chatter

By Walt Nowak

The season of summer fun is upon us - just about every community, especially in the North Country, will be celebrating traditional community activities. Coming up soon is the July 4th celebration commemorating Independence Day. Most communities will have events of some kind - usually parades, fireworks, hot dogs, band music and Homecomings. July 4th celebrations depends on local participation because everyone is celebrating. However, the Festivals are a different kind of get together. Each community is celebrating its traditional anniversary and each has a different date. Grayling has its Milltown Festival always the last week in July with the grand finale being the start of the AuSable Budweiser Canoe Marathon Race. This event is one of Michigan's most spectacular and a crowd pleaser all the way. Other communities have traditional annual dates for their celebrations so that the populace can take part in most of them with a little travel time. Just to name a few that the Grayling float and queen will take part in the Cherry Festival in Traverse City, Alpenfest in Gaylord, Elk Rapids, Charlevoix and several others that are being handled by Curt Jansen, Chairman of the float gang. Memories of many parades comes to mind when we used to be a part of them over Michigan with a sound car and filming the spectacular for subsequent T.V. shows.

Speaking of memories, this will be my last contribution to Chamber Chatter. I'm taking with me all the pleasant moments that I have spent with the staff, officers and membership. When I left the first time, I felt that my ambitions and goals had been fulfilled, but after I became involved in the Chamber the second time, it seems like a whole new ball game. I'm very grateful for this opportunity to serve the membership and my community. I hope that I am leaving some legacy of accomplishment and that we have proved the way for a successful Community development and growth. My wish is for John Alef II and the Board Members continuous and harmonious co-operation with each other. I extend my hand to Terry Wright and wish him well.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

It's pretty hard to take an auto trip without hitting a DETOUR. Sooner or later that smooth, straight road ends, and there's only one way to go...at least for a while.

Has your life hit a detour? The days go by and things seem to be going smoothly. We think we have the right answers. The road ahead looks clear...as far as we can see. Then one day we're faced with a crisis that rocks our confidence and patience. This is when our faith and strength is tested.

In such a situation, we must have a reservoir of strength and a place where we can regain our faith and our sense of balance. In the church or synagogue you will discover peace and hope that will guide you back to the mainstream of successful living.

Safety Belt Law To Be Enforced

Enforcement of the new Safety Belt Law will begin July 1 according to the Michigan State Police. Col. Gerald L. Hough, department director, explained that there will be no grace period.

Hough stressed that the law requires all drivers and front seat passengers to wear a properly adjusted safety belt unless they or the vehicle are exempt. Exemptions include: vehicles manufactured before 1965; buses; mopeds; motorcycles; physical/medical exemptions; commercial vehicles/U.S. Postal Service; rural postal carriers; school bus passengers; and vehicles not required to have safety belts under federal law. Those who are physically exempt must have in their possession written verification from a physician that they are unable to wear a safety belt for physical or medical reasons.

Non-residents are not exempt — they must comply with Michigan law when in Michigan. If safety belts have been removed from a vehicle required to have them, they must be re-installed.

Motorists will not be stopped for seat belt violations, but will be cited if they are stopped for other reasons and are not wearing seat belts. Until January 1, 1986, the violation carries a penalty of a civil fine up to $10 plus court costs and judgment fees. After that period, the fine will increase to $25. No points will appear on the person's driving record.

Drivers are responsible for themselves and front seat passengers under the age of 16. Those over 16 will receive a citation if they do not comply with the law.

Questions on enforcement may be directed to Major Michael Anderson, Michigan State Police, East Lansing Headquarters (517) 332-2521, Ext. 161.

may be sold legally at the retail level and used by the general public are restricted to: toy paper caps, snakes, toy smoke devices, toy trick noise makers, wire sparklers (size #14 or less), flitter sparklers, and both cone and cylinder fountains.

Any other fireworks are illegal for sale and use unless proper permits are obtained from the local governing body. Fireworks which send a projectile into the air, spin, twirl, or emit an audible signal (excluding toy paper caps and trick noise makers) are illegal. Local jurisdictions may have more restrictive ordinances. Contact them for more information.

Many children, and adults as well, are seriously burned or injured each year while playing with fireworks. Fire marshal officers stress that caution should be used and offer several safety precautions:

Make sure fireworks are legal for use by local ordinance and state law;

Check for manufacturer's label and instructions for use on all fireworks — illegally manufactured fireworks rarely have either;

Carefully follow instructions for use;

Provide adult supervision and don't allow very young children to handle fireworks;

Light only one device at a time;

Ignite fireworks outdoors and away from buildings and combustible materials;

Don't attempt to alter or use fireworks in a manner not intended.

Persons having any questions concerning the safety and legality of any fireworks are advised to contact any State Police post or their local police or fire department for assistance.

Military Carries Phone Company to the Woods

By Spec. 5 Sharlene Rhines
126th Public Affairs Detachment,
Michigan Army National Guard

Like most modern conveniences, the telephone has become part of everyday life. Everyone takes it for granted. Whenever people pick up the receiver to place or receive a call, they never stop to think of how it works.

Troops who go into the field for training depend upon telephones and radios for communication with operation centers and other units. Yet how many of them wonder just how that call is transmitted?

Though Ma Bell didn't go into the field with the troops, their calls still go through. That's thanks to the personnel of the 156th Signal Battalion. If it weren't for the battalion, communication during annual training would be virtually impossible.

"We're here to install, operate and maintain radio, telephone and teletype communication to all units operating within the vicinity of our signal center. We can receive signals from as far away as 20 miles," said Capt. Roger G. Johns, commander of Co. B, 156th Signal Battalion. "When the Army goes to the field, we're the telephone company," 1st Sgt. Douglas H. Sherman said.

Though signal personnel perform the function of the telephone company, they have been using equipment much less sophisticated or up to date.

According to Johns their equipment is third generation. It's the type the Army used during the Korean War and has been obsolete in the Army for the past 20 years.

Fortunately, modernization is coming to the equipment the Signalmen are using. Their equipment is being replaced with PCM (Pulse Code Modulation) equipment.

"This is the equipment the Army uses and will make us compatible with them. We should have it all by the end of June," Johns said.

Describing the advantages of the new equipment, he said they will now be able to support more users at one time, the equipment will be more reliable and easier for his people to work with.

According to Johns, all the equipment is stored and operated from the back of 2½-ton trucks. "The components of the PCM are smaller than the old equipment. That gives my people more room to work and move around in. It's cooler inside the trucks too and is better for their morale," he said.

Johns said the old antennas, which only rose 45 to 55 feet in the air, were made of aluminum and thin-walled steel tubing and has to be supported with several guy wires. Erecting one required the work of seven people and took six to eight hours to install the entire system.

The new antennas rise to a height of 75 feet, are made of a heavier metal, and have a wider girth. The maximum height for the new antennas is 250 feet. Through the use of a mechanism called a launcher, three people can set the antenna up in about 2½ hours.

In January 1986 both Company A and Company B will be going to Germany to participate in REFORGER (Return of Forces to Germany) 1986. The new equipment is coming just in time to allow them some time to familiarize themselves with its operation.
